A Sensible Proposal

Over one million Californians have signed the petition to amend the November ballot proposal to increase the State support of the public schools. The number over to support the amendment is 1,000,000. There is a good reason for this tremendous support. The amendment is a sensible proposal. It is a realistic effort to meet an existing need. The problem cannot be sidestepped; school costs are increasing, and we must meet them. The amendment is a realistic effort to meet an existing need. ### Who's Who in Lemon Grove

An English accent has become the rallying point for Lemon Grove's recreation improvement program and the fire and the sparkle behind the intense brown eyes of a great subject.

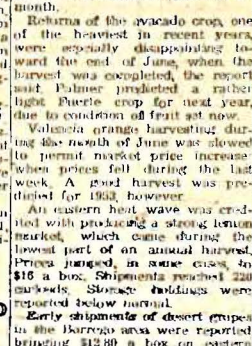

"After I got my papers in M.I. registered to vote. One of the first names I saw on the list was Judge Monroe who gave me citizenship." Naturally, Monroe got a vote.

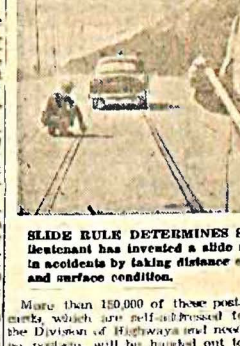

Mrs. Johnson or Joan, as more popularly called, is a talk about her England. During her stay in England, she worked 12 hours a day as a technician, testing hand grenades in war production.

"Yes, I had one great experience during the war," Joan says. "It was also my greatest. I was instructed to rush to aid shelter where 700 persons were buried alive by a bomb. The definition of heroism is here ahead of us. What a noble it was but the den was clearing it away. The part, some masonry and started filling out. Every thing was alive and moving."

Owner of the eyes and account is Mrs. Wayne Johnson, 8354 Golden Avenue, a charmingly pleasant mother of a five year old boy named Phillip.

"We came to America right after the war and I tasted lemon pie, banana pie, food tea, corn on the cob and fried chicken for the first time in my life," she said. "Corn and chicken are now my two favorite foods."

She is particularly proud of her citizenship in 1952, she said, a law required brides of Americans to retain their own nationality.

Inside Goodwin

by Max Goodwin

The late William Randolph Hearst liked to tell a story about his father, Senator George Hearst, who once, in a political speech, remarked that he was accused by his opponents of being lacking in book learning. "My opponents say I spell bird b-u-r-d," said the senator.

If b-u-r-d doesn't spell bird, what in hell does it spell?

Last week in San Francisco, Oscar R. Ewing, Federal Security Administrator and fervid belligerent of the Fair Deal compulsory health insurance crusade these many years, publicly declared "We will not have socialized medicine in this country. President Truman is against it, I am against it. The Democratic Party is against it. But we will have national health insurance."

There is of course a vast and rapidly growing program of health insurance in California and over the nation—as many protected individuals and families have long been well aware. But this is the form of voluntary private insurance, taken out by prudent people precisely as they take out life insurance and fire insurance and auto insurance.

What Mr. Ewing, a typical Fair Deal bureaucrat, is advocating is compulsory health insurance—the compulsion to come by government edict; compulsory regulation of medical and hospital standards and practices; compulsory setting of patient fees to be paid—not to the doctor—but to the tax collector.

Now then Mr. Ewing, no one could question your right as a citizen to advocate all that. But, Mr. Ewing, if it doesn't spell out socialized medicine, what does it spell?

Years Ago

A rich producing center and an ideal home place, is the best description that can be given Lemon Grove, a town and district, nine miles east of San Diego on the San Diego and Cuyamaca Railroad.

Lemon Grove is a district of richly yielding small acreages and a place of comfortable homes.

With an elevation of 440 feet from sea level and made up of pleasant rolling hills land, the situation for a residence locality is very desirable.

Lemon Grove is an old time producing district that has successfully grown and developed through the good years and indifferent years depending almost entirely on the yield of its soil.

Low prices of lemons and bad marketing conditions have at times seriously affected the patient and hard working growers, but recent years of better conditions and the general advance of San Diego City has effectively lifted them to a position of prosperity.

Some of the old settlers have sold and their places have been taken by men of new energy and financial strength, and today Lemon Grove is on a thoroughly solid basis.

About 600 acres in the district are the lemon orchards. The Lemon Growers Packing Association, a local concern handles the products and the Packing house keeps a good force of helpers busy in the season in the busy months as much as 17 to 18 carloads of fruit a month are packed and shipped.

The lemon trees are doing better now than they ever did. The growers fumigate and clean them and strive for a good quality fruit. The soil is good, partly of red loam and partly of black clay varieties, and it works up well everywhere.

Other products besides lemons are oranges, grapefruit, hys, grain olives and small fruit. Improved orchards vary in price from $500 to considerably over $1000 per acre and are in areas ranging from two and a half to 20 acres. Open land is worth from $100 an acre and up.

There is a population of 300, divided into about 80 families. The town has a store, post office and telephone service, a real estate office, a fruit packing office, a church and nine new school attended by between 50 and 60 children. A convenient railroad service connects it with San Diego. Fully a dozen new families came to the district in the last year.

Lemon Grove will gain much advantage from the construction through the district of one of the main highways under the new system now under construction.

Two subdivisions, one in town and another in acres, are being laid out along the railroad near the town. Water is supplied from the Cuyamaca lake system and its distribution is handled by a local company.

WASHINGTON AND "SMALL BUSINESS"

By S. WILSON HARDY

Waste in government is even a hot subject in Washington these days. Yet some of the very Congressmen who love to rise on every possible occasion and make the welkin ring on the subject are the most reluctant to take definite action.

Despite a bipartisan committee composed equally of republicans and democrats supporting the reforms in government procedures recommended by the Hoover Commission almost three years ago, progress is being made slowly.

Right now, every attempt is being made to get Congress to pass pending bills that would solve many of the government employment problems. The cold, unsupported facts indicate how strongly reforms are needed.

There are two and a half million Federal civilian employees, or ten times more than there were 20 years ago.

Thus, the government is the biggest employer in the world, yet the government is being shown up as probably the poorest employer in the world.

To keep two and a half million working, the government must hire 800,000 people every year, due to the 34% who leave government service because of dissatisfaction.

In fact, a major expenditure of money, about 100 million dollars per year, goes for salaries of government workers who do nothing else but handle personnel problems. In this field, the figures are fantastic and beyond belief.

© National Federation of Independent Business

It has been found that one group of bureaucrats who mainly have 1,800,000 workers also have 23,000 personnel workers, or one for every 78 supposedly productive workers. In some bureaus it has been found that there is a ratio of one personnel worker to every 28 employees.

The reasons are many and varied. One of the principal reasons for such wasteful confusion is the fact that the government today uses 16,000 different skills, with many of these skills only needed because government socialistic enterprises compete with private business.

Of course, the confusion as to what workers do that is so great, that no one knows exactly who is needed, or why. Neither are there any adequate procedures set up to put the right skill in the right job, or even obtain proficiency at least somewhat comparable to that expected in private employment.

For that reason, people today are being urged to write Congressmen demanding action in the Federal Personnel Recruitment Bill as the first step toward ending the confusion that is costing taxpayers billions.

The bill is being fought bitterly by many bureaucrats, largely for two reasons.

One is that the reorganization of government hiring practices as provided for in this bill would reduce by a heavy percentage the number of government workers needed, and eliminate jobs created as political rewards.

Another reason is that in due time, this reform would indicate that government today is trying to do wastefully jobs that would be done for far less money by private enterprise.

In Washington

IF THERE WAS confusion and uncertainty on the Washington scene before the historic and dramatic decision of the Supreme Court, the word was "babel" after the court ruled that the President's operation of the steel plants was unconstitutional.

Following on the heels of the general strike called by Philip Murray, boss of the CIO Steel Workers Union, within a few minutes after the court ruled, was the order of the President returning the steel plants to their private owners in compliance with the court order.

The Supreme Court decision holding the President does NOT have inherent authority under the constitution to seize control of industry in a national emergency lays in the lap of congress the problem of whether or not to give the chief executive some kind of a law under which he can assume broad emergency powers for the purpose of controlling a situation of this kind.

Chief Justice Fred Vinson, in his dissenting opinion, declared the majority view of the court placed the President in the category of a "messenger boy."

Hardly had the court decision, the order to strike, and return of the plants to their owners been chronicled when the National Production Authority slapped a ban against shipment of steel from warehouses to manufacturers of civilian goods. It also meant that the increased allotment which had been permitted for civilian manufacturers for the third and fourth quarters of 1952 will be quickly withdrawn.

The new billion-dollar-a-year veterans bill came a step nearer to enactment in the house. The new measure would give to Korean war (GIs and those who entered the army after June 27, 1950, many of the provisions of the old GI bill. The measure has not had active support of the American Legion for the reason that, some observers say, a change in disbursing money will short-change the veterans of some tuition money although it might save Uncle Sam some money from alleged fly-by-night schools. The bill for instance gives $110 a month to single veterans allowing a division of $75 per month for subsistence and $35 a month for tuition and books—a little more than $300 a year. In the old GI bill the veterans were allowed $500 for tuition and books and the schools were paid direct. In the new bill the veteran gets his money direct and in turn pays the school. Virtually same provisions are made for home, business, and farm purchases and up to $300 severance pay is allowed.

Office of Price Administration won a victory over Safeway stores when the Supreme Court upheld OPS action in removing dry groceries from general price sellings, and placing them on a mark-up basis by specific groups.

The American Farm Bureau Federation has reiterated its charge that the "Department of Agriculture's" "Farm Policy Review," a series of some 3,000 farm meetings held several months ago was conducted for "purely political purposes." Digest of the results of these needs is scheduled to be released early this month by the Department.

With farm prices generally headed downward, there is every indication that congress may take up the question of price supports, looking toward a 100 per cent of parity support schedule instead of the flexible system as now in effect.

There is every indication that this congress will be unable to complete its duties before the national convention, which start at Chicago July 7. Therefore there is plenty of talk that since congress must come back to finish its job anyway, it might as well tackle the tough farm price problem and not wait for the next session in January.

GUY GOES A-HUNTING

BY CARTER MASON

GUY EVANS had never been hunting. He had always thought he'd like to go hunting because his closest friends, Mel Harper and Ed Jordan, seemed to get a great deal of pleasure from their sojourns into the north woods.

"Suppose you take me with you?" he said to his friends a week before they were due to depart on their annual excursion. "I'd like to get away for awhile and have some fun."

Mel and Ed exchanged glances. "Ever been in the woods?" Mel asked.

"No. That's why I'd like to go." Mel and Ed talked it over and agreed to let Guy accompany them. Guy was delighted. It would be swell, he thought, spending a couple of weeks with two congenial companions far away from it all. He pictured a leisurely ride up to Waterville on the train, and many pleasurable moments later in a snug log cabin deep in the forests.

Guy outfitted himself at a local sports store. The night before departure Mel called up and to meet them at the dawn. Guy was rather sure he had looked forward surely to this trip.

A taxi deposited him at a garage at the airport in cold of a mid-winter's day and Ed looked at his bag, shook their heads.

was sitting on its haunches and watching them in the most harmless manner imaginable. Then they went on. At 1 o'clock they came to a frozen-over stream, on the banks of which was a one-room log cabin. There was nothing very snug about it. There was no fire in the rusty box stove and only two bunks besides a couple of roughly made chairs and a table.

It was colder inside the cabin than it was outside. When Saul handed Guy a bucket and an axe and told him to go down to the brook and chop a hole in the ice for water, he was grateful.

A fire was burning when he got back and bacon was frying. It was the most delicious odor Guy had ever smelled. He eased down on one of the bunks and thought that he'd never be able to get up again.

Saul made coffee and cut up some bread and they ate rather heartily. Then Mel and Ed began hunting.

★ AUTHOR OF "HOW TO STOP WORRYING AND START LIVING" ★

Worry Will Kill You
BEFORE COMING to New York, R. A. Serrett, was a so-called big executive, enthroned in an air-conditioned private office with a private secretary. He smoked big 25 cent cigars—and learned how to worry.

When the company yanked him out of this comfortable office and sent him to New York he sat at a plain ordinary desk in an office with 11 ordinary salesmen. Quite a comedown. He was to do what he considered just an ordinary selling job. His feelings and pride were injured and he started to feel sorry for himself. His imagination worked overtime and he really worried.

After 30 years' service with one company he was going downhill. Perhaps he hadn't been the success he thought; perhaps this was the company's way of starting him on the way out. He knew no other business; did not want to work for anyone else, and the thought of being out of a job increased his worries.

One night walking the street, worrying about what he was eventually going to do, he passed a book store. A new volume in a bright yellow cover caught his eye. It was a book on worry. Well, maybe that was just what he needed to read. So it was proved. It was like a rope thrown to a drowning man. He bought the book and could hardly wait to get back to his hotel room to start reading.

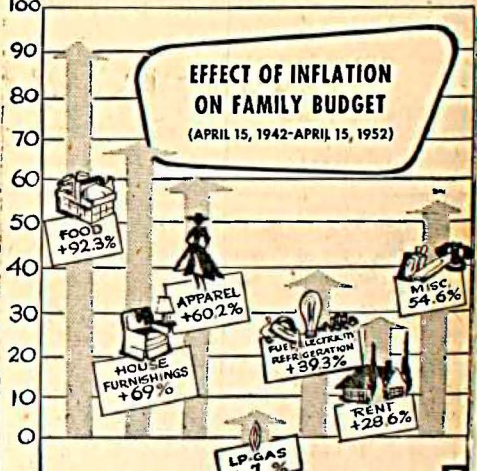

He leafed through the book hastily and one important sentence caught his eye: "Businessmen who do not know how to fight worry, die young." He read until three o'clock in the morning. Gradually a great weight seemed to be lifted from him and life was pleasant again. He started to analyze his situation rationally. He now realized the job the company had given him was really an important one and that actually it was an honor to be selected for this particular work.

Right then and there he made a resolution: to do his level best every day and not worry about the past or the future. Regardless of what happened he would still have the satisfaction of having done the best he knew how. It worked like magic.

Despite zooming general living expenses, the cost of liquefied petroleum gas has remained relatively stable, "spot survey" by LP-Gas Information Service, Chicago, among the nation's dealers reveals. In contrast to an average rise of 63% in all items contained in U.S. Bureau of Labor Statistics cost of living index, LP-Gas rates increased only 7% in ten-year period ending April 15, 1952. Also known as propane, bottled and tank gas, the fuel is used principally in rural, small town and suburban areas.

Here's One Bright Ray in Living Cost Spiral—LP-Gas Prices up Only 7%

CHICAGO—In the face of skyrocketing living expenses in practically all major categories, the cost of liquefied petroleum gas, sold principally in rural, small town and suburban areas, has advanced only 7% since 1942. This was revealed by the LP-Gas Information Service, Chicago, following a nationwide "spot survey" among leading marketers of the fuel.

In the same ten-year period, average of all items included in the cost of living index released by the U. S. Bureau of Labor statistics climbed 63%. Food prices registered the sharpest rise with a 92.3% rise. Other increases were as follows: house furnishings—69%; apparel—60.2%; miscellaneous—54.6%; electricity and refrigeration—28.6%, and rent—28.6%.

Industry leaders attribute the stability of LP-Gas rates in contrast to the general rise in living costs to several factors. Among these are: (1) The tremendous growth in public acceptance and use of the fuel with resulting stimulation of economies; (2) the sharp increase in number of LP-Gas bulk plants throughout the country and consequent reduction in the area served by each; (3) the "rental" rates offered to customers by most dealers to stimulate the use of new appliances, and (4) various technical and service advances contributing to economy.

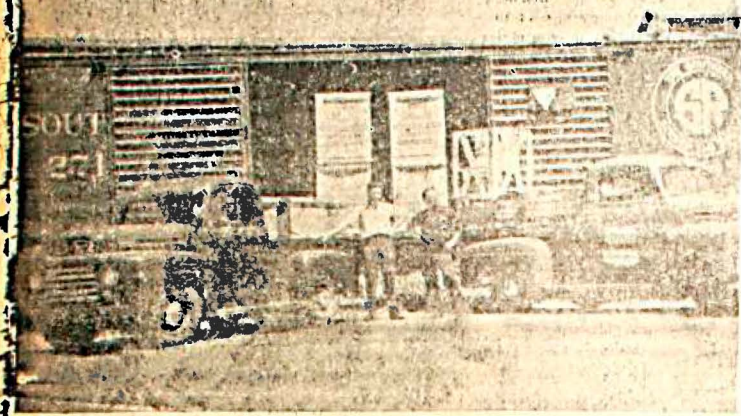

LP-Gas, the lustrous "baby" of the petroleum family, is also known as butane, propane, bottled and tank gas. It is extracted at natural gasoline plants and refineries, compressed into liquid form for ease and economy of transportation and shipped in pressure vessels by rail, highway and water. Sizeable quantities are also transmitted from producing centers by pipeline.

New Idea For Outdoor Corn Roasting

NOW IS THE TIME FOR ROASTING-EARS. This delicious summer treat is always better when cooked and eaten outdoors. A new and easy way to roast corn is in a Nesco electric roaster-oven. The portable electric roaster-oven, long a summer favorite for indoor cooking, is now being used widely out of doors, either on the picnic table or on its own cabinet.

A favorite way to roast sweet corn-in-the-husk is as follows:

Preparation—Select large, freshly gathered ears of corn that are fully developed, tender and firm. Remove top layer of husk only. Cut at tassel end and peel back entire husk to stem in three sections. Remove silks and cut off tip end of corn. Rinse in cold water allowing a little moisture to remain on corn. Replace husk on corn for protection.

Roasting—Arrange 12-15 ears of prepared corn in bottom and criss-rack (3rd position from bottom) of roaster-oven "Handy-Lift" rack. Place full rack in roaster-oven which is preheated to 400 degrees. Adjust vent to closed position; roast 45-50 minutes; and serve piping hot right in husks. Butter or margarine are all that need to be added to make this a perfect summer time dish.

SMOKEY REPORTS

Well, we had five more fires this past week than we had the week before, but fortunately only a total of 10 acres burned. The weather has been a great help so far this season but the odds are we will have plenty to worry about weatherwise come August and September.

We had two fires up in the Cucu Mesa area. That is on the west side of Palomar Mountain. Had the weather been right, these fires could have swept the entire Palomar area.

"Children and matches" and "generator and trash" fires continue to be the big cause of our fires, most of which have been in our more populated areas of the county. So, let us see if we can watch our children a little more closely, as well as use greater caution when burning the trash and grass around our homes.

One fire that covered about 1200 acres is not included in the above report, was within the city limits of San Diego, near Linda Vista. Under bad fire conditions, this fire could have caused real damage, but as it turned out, the burned over area now provides a valuable firebreak relieving a serious threat later in the season.

INDIAN STORY TOLD AT CHURCH SCHOOL

A picturesque story of the American Indian and his way of life was told on Wednesday by Mrs. J. Howard Wylie to the Primary and Junior Departments of the La Mesa United Presbyterian Bible School. The Primary Department is supervised by Mrs. Robert E. Bennett and the Junior by Mrs. Foy D. Hines. A cardboard tree has been made and will be decorated with gaily colored stickers to represent the gifts to be brought by the children. Christmas in July will be shared with the Indians of the Good News Mission of Houck, Arizona, and gifts of usable clothing and toys will be offered on this Friday.

NEW PARKING AREA AT GROVE CAFE

An old parking lot is a new improvement at Pat's Cafe on Imperial, according to Ted Potters. Room for 40 cars to park is now available at the cafe.

HAMBURGERS RISE to deluxe rating when they have a rich tomato sauce. To prepare them, shape 4 patties from a mixture of 1 lb. ground beef, 1 small onion chopped, 1 egg, 1/2 cup soft bread cubes, and salt and pepper. Cook till done in shortening in a skillet. Put hamburgers on a platter. Then pour 1 can (1 1/4 cups) of condensed tomato soup into the skillet, stir to loosen browned bits of meat. When sauce is hot, pour over patties.

"A-TISKET, A-TASKET", go pack the picnic basket and get ready to celebrate the month of July. A dish you'll be glad to have in the basket is pork and beans mixed with browned chunks of frankfurters. You can prepare the beans over the campfire. First brown 2 or 3 sliced frankfurters and some chopped onion in shortening in a skillet. Then stir in a can of beans (1 pound size) plus 1/2 cup tomato ketchup and 1 1/2 teaspoons mustard. Simmer about 15 minutes to blend the flavors. One can of beans makes enough for 3 people. Count on extra active appetites.

COOL AS A CUCUMBER is the way you'll feel when you keep meals completely simple in the summertime. And they'll be big-hit meals with your family if you star such favorites as soups and salads. Give them brimming bowls of chicken noodle soup, and for salad have a luscious combination of tuna, chopped celery and stuffed olives on lettuce. A fittingly fine dessert to go with this menu is luscious red raspberries poured over plain cake squares (made with a mix) top with vanilla ice cream.

Here's A Good Fish Story

This time of year, when fresh fish is plentiful and economical, is a good time to get acquainted with the many varieties available not only near ocean and lakes but in inland towns, thanks to modern refrigeration. Secret of success in cooking fish is not to overcook it, and to season it properly. Fish is bland, and takes well to simple sauces, such as the Tabasco sauce below. A high quality protein food, there are some 160 varieties of fish sold in the United States. Here are pictured, reading top to bottom, three salt water varieties, sea bass, mackerel and porgie, and three fresh water species, white fish, yellow pike and brook trout.

An easy and appealing way of preparing fish for the table is by simple broiling. To serve four, plan on 1 pound of filets or steaks or four small fish, and 3 to 4 tablespoons of fat. Preheat broiler. Cut filets or steaks into serving pieces. Grease the broiler rack lightly. Place fish on rack, skin side up; brush with melted fat. Place rack 2 to 3 inches from heat. Broil fish 5 to 8 minutes or until brown, and serve with this tangy sauce.

Tabasco Butter Sauce
4 tablespoons butter or margarine 1/4 teaspoon Tabasco
4 1/2 teaspoons lime juice 1 tablespoon minced parsley
Melt butter in saucepan. Add lime juice and Tabasco; heat. Add parsley. YIELD: Approximately 1/2 cup.

KEEP your story TOLD

If there is one enterprise on earth that the quitter should leave alone, it is advertising. Advertising does not jerk... it pulls. It pulls gently at first but the pull is steady. It increases day by day, year by year, until it exerts an irresistible power.—John Wanamaker.

It was John Wanamaker who once said he would never let the local newspaper go to press without his name in its advertising columns.

GROVE ADVENTIST GROUP TO MEET IN NORTH PARK

The Missionary Volunteer Society of the La Mesa-Lemon Grove Seventh-Day Adventist church will be in charge of the Associated Youth meeting of the San Diego area. The meeting will be at the North Park church July 12 at 7:30 p.m. Miss Helen Hyatt, sister of our pastor Willis L. Hyatt, will tell her experiences during the Second World War. She sailed from New York for Capetown, South Africa in the Zanzibar, a German liner, followed them for days. Five hundred miles from their destination they bombed their ship. After being in the water for hours they were picked up by a German prison boat. For six weeks they suffered hardships and privations of every kind. Her story compares with the shipwreck of Paul during his missionary journeys. At the time, Miss Hyatt was on her way to Africa to take over missionary duties.

Furniture Fashions

Consumers are currently expressing a marked preference for all home furnishings that are informal, yet smartly styled, and easy to clean. Here is a new and exciting version of the "four-chairs dining set" that meets all these requirements—and more. Shown above in black with a light colored plastic table top and chairs with foam rubber cushions covered in a washable textured plastic. It makes it easy to move from room to room, or from house to house. It is impervious to sunshine and hard use and even a bit of rain.

HAPPY ENDING IN LEMON GROVE ORPHAN STORY

A Lemon Grove woman, Mrs. Richard P. Hicks, of 1737 Colfax Avenue will see her dream come true this month as a result of a story carried in the REVIEW last year after spending 20 years as an orphan.

Through this and other stories that were printed elsewhere, Mrs. Hicks will, for the first time in her adult life, see her father and her brother.

Twenty years ago as a girl of seven, Naomi Ruth Branch, now Mrs. Hicks, was one of four children in Jefferson City, Missouri, facing a home broken by death of her mother who died in childbirth. She and her brothers were sent to orphanages.

At the orphanage she was told but her father was dead. While he kept a few letters as sentimental reminders, she grew up believing her father was dead.

After she grew up and was married, she attempted to locate blood relatives by mail.

Her husband was interested in stamp collections and when she turned over some of her old keepsake letters to him, he noted the name and postmark on one of them.

It was the name of his wife's father. Finally he decided that the man might just happen to be alive and so he wrote the postmaster in the town postmarked on the letter.

The postmaster proved his hunch to be a good one and replied that he was in question was alive.

Letters and long distance calls followed in rapid succession and now the stage is set for not only Mrs. Hicks' father, but for her brother, whom she found to be alive and well at the same time to visit her here this month.

Her father will be in Lemon Grove in time to spend his 60th birthday. Her brother and his wife will also be here soon after "papa" arrives.

"Since I 'discovered' my father and brother, another brother from whom I was not lost, has come home from four years with the army in Germany. This is going to be a real homecoming," she said.

"We're going to talk and talk and talk," she then commented.

"After all, we'll have to get reacquainted."

Mrs. Hicks said it would be like having two fathers. Her foster father, the father she has known till now, resides at 3235 Orange Street in National City.

To take part in the gala homecoming, Mrs. Hicks, her children and Richard Hicks, her children and two foster children.

MOTHER'S HELPER

Diapers can be as sanitary and washed as clean at home as in commercial laundries now with the use of the latest automatic washer. In fact, only half as many diapers are needed by today's modern mother, for home washing with a Whirlpool automatic assures a fresh supply at any time.

Maybe mother forgot to wash diapers before the supply ran out. The only damage is to daughter's dignity. She will have to wait a few minutes before she can get dressed. By keeping a regular diaper washing schedule even this harmless incident would not have happened. Normally, four dozen diapers washed every three days is an ample supply for one baby.

Diapers should be washed for a full 10 minutes in hot sudsy water and run through the rinse cycle twice. Immediately after washing they should be put in the automatic gas or electric dryer and should never be ironed.

Nothing new under the sun? Oh, but there is something—not only new, but as practical and pleasure-giving that to try it is to ally it with the "muscle" of good cooking. You may already know the magic crystalline seasoning that brings out all the wonderful natural flavors of good food.

It's Accent—pure monosodium glutamate—Old Mother Nature's original flavor booster. It is naturally present in all protein foods when they are still growing in the garden or wandering on the hoof, but starts to slip away immediately after the harvest. It continues to diminish through processing, packing, storing, and we consequently get only a fraction of the original flavor when the food is finally placed before us at the table.

Simple solution to this flavor loss problem is to put the flavor back in. That's what is accomplished when you use Accent. Its sole purpose in life is to make foods taste more like themselves.

It's hard to believe that all the tempting tastes of the garden can be restored by a mere sprinkling of crystals during cooking, yet families far larger than our own—industrial, military, and institutional "families"—wouldn't serve without it for this very reason. Hundreds of the canned and packaged foods you bring home from your grocery store are also flavor-enhanced with pure monosodium glutamate.

This new flavor enhancer is as simple as salt to use—sprinkle it on any non-sweet food during cooking in amounts that suit your own taste, using the recommendations on the package as a guide. It works its flavor wonders on practically everything you like to eat. Here, for instance, is a yummy chicken recipe that calls for it. Try it, and see if you don't agree there is something new under the sun after all.

Chicken Provencal

1 fowl (4 to 5 lbs.), disjointed
Seasoned flour
1/2 cup fat or salad oil
1 bunch baby carrots
1 lb. small white onions
1/2 bunch celery, diced
1 cup water

1 teaspoon salt
1 whole clove
1 bay leaf
1/2 teaspoon thyme
1/2 teaspoon powdered marjoram
Few grains mace
1 teaspoon Accent
1/2 cup domestic Burgundy wine

Roll chicken in seasoned flour; brown on all sides in fat or salad oil; place in large casserole. Add whole, scraped carrots, whole peeled onions and celery. Pour water into pan in which chicken was browned; add salt, spices, herbs and Accent; boil 5 minutes; strain into casserole. Cover; bake in slow oven, 300° F., 1 1/2 hours. Add Burgundy; continue baking in hot oven, 400° F., 1 hour. Yield: 6 servings.

HOBBY SHOW IS ORANGE FAIR FEATURE

Everything from collection of match covers to model railroads—featuring thousands of items showing the unique and interesting people do to kill time or fight insomnia—will be displayed in the big Hobby Show at the 1952 Orange County Fair set for Aug. 13-17, at the fairgrounds between here and Newport Beach.

Space reservations for exhibits, arranged according to creative collectors, transportation and industry hobby divisions, have already taxed the capacity of the six buildings allotted to Orange County hobby societies and individual hobbyists.

Groups of all ages are participating, including youngsters from the Huntington Beachcombers and the Age Club of Fullerton, whose membership boasts an average age of 70 years.

Stamp collections of Orange County philatelic societies will occupy an entire building. The Orange Coast Mineral & Lapidary Society will fill another.

building. Model railroad clubs of the County are putting in a huge permanent display to show locomotives with railway cars roaring around miniature tracks. Boy Scout exhibits will occupy another building.

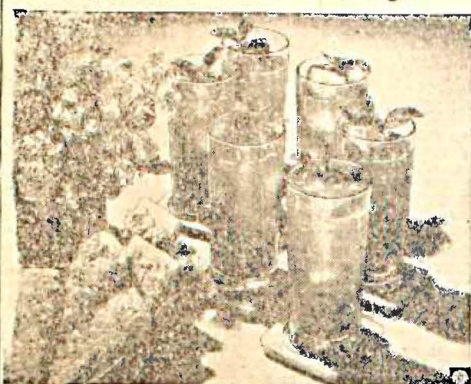

Among the many hobby displays, visitors will see two exhibits featured in Ripley's "Believe It or Not" consisting of a scale model of the Eiffel Tower made entirely with toothpicks and the world's largest collection of four-leaf clovers, more than 5,000 picked from one Iowa farm.

REPUBLICAN WOMEN'S CLUB MEETINGS OFF TILL FALL

Long Drink Time Is Here Again

Summer days, long and lazy, are here. These are the days when everyone wants to be out in the open as much as possible. To have leisure time requires planning ahead of time. A little forethought in marketing will save many a last minute rush when an opportunity for a day's pleasure presents itself.

An assortment of tinned and jarred foods on your pantry shelves can afford a delightful quick meal or a picnic lunch at short notice, and save many long hours of preparation. Canned or frozen fruit juices, flavorings, fresh fruits, packaged ice cream and plenty of pale dry ginger ale and sparkling water on hand, mean that you can whip up refreshing drinks in a jiffy for any occasion.

Ginger ale, well chilled, is an excellent refresher at any time, and it mixes well with almost any fruit juice. A scoop of vanilla ice cream in a glass of ginger ale is a truly delicious drink. For an afternoon party, here is a good drink.

Five O'Clock Cooler
2 cups tea infusion
1/4 cup mint jelly
1/4 cup sugar
1 1/2 cups grapefruit juice, sweetened
Green food coloring
Pale dry ginger ale
Fresh mint

Pour hot tea over jelly and sugar; stir until dissolved. Add juice and coloring; chill. Divide among 8 tall glasses. Add ginger ale—stir gently to mix. Top each with a spray.

FARM NEWS AGRICULTURAL EXTENSION SERVICE

THE BIG LIE RUSE

Last year we were accused by the Communists of scattering "isolate bugs" on East German farms. More recently the charge was germ warfare in Manchuria. If, when mid-summer rolls around, any important area of Communist activity suffers from drought, we may be sure that our recent rainmaking projects will be cited as proof that we have tampered with their weather.

All that propaganda is intended for consumption by Communist masses and gullible intended victims. Communists know we don't accept such propaganda, but they also know that their own special audience, having no means by which to disprove such claims, inevitably accept as true that which is repeated endlessly without dissent. So it is dinned into Communist ears day after day.

There is one place, however, where Communist disregard for the truth has caused a great deal of unwanted turmoil within our country. This occurs when the Communists are successful in what they term the "partial - issue" tactic.

WHAT IS A PARTIAL ISSUE?

Mr. Pettis Perry, acting head of the American Communist Party, writing on "The Farm Question" in a recent issue of the publication Political Affairs, urges the Communist Party faithfully to carry on the fight in California for: 1. Minimum pay for farm workers; 2. Better housing for farm workers; 3. Mobile schools for children of migratory workers; 4. Compulsory education for children of migratory workers; 5. Enforcement of the child labor laws; 6. Unemployment insurance for seasonal workers; 7. Guaranteed farm prices with subsidies to keep consumer prices down; 8. Low interest rates on farm mortgages and farm debt relief; 9. Opposition to U.M.W.

These are all sympathetic causes and there are many well intentioned persons who can be interested in advancing them. Now comes the telling effect of Communist untruth. Having isolated the subject of people who, obviously, are receptive to begin with, the Communists commence to fill them with all sorts of untruths, half-truths, and just plain lies. These can be refuted only by actual knowledge of conditions in the farming area, something the city dweller rarely has.

AN OUNCE OF PREVENTION
As time goes on, the individual who started out as merely a sympathizer for a "worthy cause" is drawn in more and more into the orbit of Communist Party activity. Seldom does he realize the "partial issue" of some social welfare reform has been the hook on which he then dangles. This method of operation explains many of the instances where prominent people—apparently with nothing to gain and everything to lose—have embraced the Communist cause.

The importance of the partial issue tactic is declared by Perry when he says, "We must know how to unleash struggle on partial issues and how to develop them more fully as a number of issues. This is no an easy task, but it is a task that must be fulfilled if we are to succeed in this battle."

If one is to avoid being made use of by these persistent, prearranged party members, he must coldly and methodically analyze all proposals and issues regardless of their sympathetic appeal. Only by doing so

BUSINESS WOMEN'S LEAGUE TO MEET AGAIN

The Business Women's League of Lemon Grove will hold its next meeting at seven pm, on Thursday, July 17th at the Farm Dining Room at 6624 El Cajon Blvd., according to Mrs. Jerry Roman, reservations and social chairman.

The July 3rd luncheon meeting was omitted, and the next luncheon meeting will be August 7th at the Community Center. Lunch will be prepared by a committee of members.

proprietor. "Didn't wanna buy even a plug of tobacco. Jes wanted to ask the way to Bumble Bee Bend."

Belie Bellows (Kante Bellows) oldest daughter who married Odd Bodkin told us the other day that, when her husband goes out under the tree with a stack of western magazines, she always makes him check his six-shooter with her lest, in his excitement over the stories,
he take a pot shot at Lase Dozier, who, Odd says, rustled some chickens off the Bodkin hen ranch one night last summer.

Speaking of thieves, Squire Glad-woney Debitside had Constable Siarr Badgett out on his farm all last Wednesday watching for the thief who stole a sheep there last week to return for another pig.
Siarr didn't see a soul, but while he was watching the pig pens, somebody made away with Squire's silo.

In church the other Sunday, Aunt Fizzie Toadhopper, who was 100 years old her last birthday, swore off smoking, but told the preacher that, with the Lord's permission, she would like to begin taking a spot of hard cider occasionally.
